ANNUAL REVIEW
REPORT

Display of ORCID and FundRef information in journal articles

De Gruyter is making it easier for authors and their funding sources to be recognised through the implementation of ORCID (www.orcid.org) and FundRef (www.crossref.org/fundref).

ORCID is an independent, non-profit application which allows scientists to create unique profiles for themselves and their work. Scientists that register on ORCID are assigned an identifier which they can use to link and manage all publications. The bibliographic details saved to ORCID by authors are automatically referenced on De Gruyter Online and in the bibliographic information in the print versions of books and journals.

De Gruyter has now also made it possible for articles to be linked with FundRef, providing transparency with respect to funding, what is especially important for Open Access publications.

Partnership with Copyright Clearance Center to automate permissions requests in journal articles

Together with CCC De Gruyter has implemented a technology solution RightsLink® that allows visitors to the De Gruyter website to license journal content quickly and easily for republishing or reuse.

RightsLink enables publishers to provide immediate online permissions to licensees and eliminate costs associated with manual permission transactions.

The reprint permissions are an important element of the service offered to authors and researchers. The cooperation with CCC's RightsLink provides a more efficient way to manage these transactions.

Partnership with publishing software company ReadCube

With this partnership, over 850 journal titles and book chapters from the De Gruyter collection are now indexed by ReadCube for easy discovery across the technology company's web, desktop and mobile portals, search engines and recommendation feeds.

ReadCube's technology offers the best possible reading experience and enhances the format of De Gruyter articles and book chapters when read within ReadCube's free desktop, web, and mobile applications. Enhancements include hyperlinked in-line citations, annotation tools, instant access to supplemental materials and figures, clickable author names, social sharing, and altmetrics.
